1. I'm really excited to new technology stuff like when you find something new that makes your life more interested not just in QA stuff but whole technology such as machine learning thing, game technology and etc

2. The main goal of a software tester is to make sure the quality of product and providing the real picture to the stakeholders, make sure to allign knowledge on every side so we can reduce miscommunication as much as possible, keep up the passion alive

3. Wish to meet good collegue, building new relation, improve my technology and business knowledge, and better career of course